SUBJECT Siberian Forests  NO. OF PAGES 1  (10 LACE ACQUIRED NO. OF ENCLS. (LISTED BELOW)  DATE ACQUIRED SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO. 25  DATE OF INFORMATION 25  1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia. 25	SUBJECT
SUBJECT Siberian Forests  1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no edars in Siberia, for nearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KEAR, a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KEAR" and sound very much alike, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	SUBJECT		INFORMA	TION R	EPORT	CD NO.	and the second
SUBJECT Siberian Forests  NO. OF PAGES 1  1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural fournals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow nearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KETH; a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KETHP" and "cedar" are both derived from the Greek "edroes" and sound very much alike, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	SUBJECT		1		,		The state of the s
SUBJECT Siberian Forests  NO. OF PAGES 1  NO. OF ENCLS.  (USTED BELOW)  SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.  25  DATE OF INFORMATION  1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow rearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KETH; a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KETHP" and "cedar" are both derived from the Greek "edroes" and sound very much alike, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	SUBJECT					DATE DISTR.	5 500 1949
DATE ACQUIRED  DATE ACQUIRED  DATE OF INFORMATION  1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow nearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KECHP, a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KECHP" and "cedar" are both derived from the Greek " jedros" and sound very much alike, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	10 ACE	Siberian Fo	orests			NO. OF PAGES	1
1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow nearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KEAP, a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KEAP" and "cedar" are both derived from the Greek sedros" and sound very much allke, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	ACQUIRE		 	]
1. There has been a good deal written lately, particularly in agricultural journals, about the extensive cedar forests in Siberia.  There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow they can	DATE ACQUIRE	D	_			SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.	25X
There are no cedars in Siberia, for they cannot grow nearer than in the vicinity of Tibet.  2. Possibly, those who have been studying this subject have referred to numerous USSR publications which describe the KECP, a species of pine tree which may be found in quantity all the way from the Ural to the Stanovoi Mountains. The words "KECP" and "cedar" are both derived from the Greek sedros and sound very much alike, but, of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.	DATE OF	INFORMATIO	N
of course, they refer to two quite distinct conifers.		journals, abor There are no nearer than in Possibly, tho numerous USSR pine tree whith the Stanovoi	ut the extensive cedars in Siberia n the vicinity of se who have been publications which may be found in Mountains. The Mountains.	cedar fores a, for f Tibet.  studying th ich describe in quantity words "KEA"	is subject he the KECTP all the way	they cannot grow  ave referred to  , a species of  from the Ural to  ar" are both
-end-		of course, th	ey refer to two	quite distin	ct conifers.	•
-end-	•
	·			-end-
• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •				,			į
	1		•	•
		•
		•

IDENTIAL 25X1A